Dear Parents and Guardians

“Adolescence” has been very much in the news this week. I watched it with interest and was horrified at how things, in the TV show, played out on social media. Not even in secret - in the open and how parents missed the online bullying going on with disastrous consequences. I couldn't help but reflect on my message from last week about the children's use of social media. The family in the show had missed it - and if you haven't seen it I urge you to watch it to see how easy it is for children to misuse social media and how quickly lives can be ruined because of this misuse.

Also last week I had to take steps to tackle words used towards one of our children that I considered to be racist. It appears that some feel the response was over the top. It appears the seriousness of the situation is lost on some of our school community, with some making a false equivalence with the behaviour of other learners in the class.

It's 2025. We need to work in partnership with our families to understand how this feels if you are in a group with protected characteristics. As a white male I can have no experience of our learner felt when the racist language was used - but I can protect that learner as best I can.

To that end, I would like you to read the impact statement from the child's parents “It was extremely upsetting, shocking and disappointing to hear that such words had been used, completely unprovoked, against another child in this day and age in school - a place where all children should feel happy and safe. If it was your child that was subjected to such words, how would it make you feel and how would it make your child feel?”

Finally, I will leave you with the child's words themselves.

“I felt angry because you shouldn't be judging people by skin colour”

Regards,

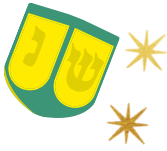

Mr Redgrave

Once again another week, another tick towards our whole school target!

This half term has been really positive for attendance.

If your children are here we can really make a difference. Significant success in behaviour and attainment is happening in Years 3, 4 and 5.

Let's keep up our efforts.

Thank you all so much for your positive attitudes towards attendance.

Attendance

Cycling to School

We love children coming to school on their scooters and bikes. Please ensure your child is wearing their helmets to school. We don't allow them to ride their bikes in school without one.

It is a common fear that we can't do enough and it won't make a difference, but we are always sowing seeds that may be brought to life later down the line

Dr Amanda Jones

We can only sow seeds if you children are here. The seeds we sow should help our young people in their lives, strengthen their understanding of the world and all of its diverse wonders. Thank you for taking attendance seriously.

Dosbarth Alwen

THIS WEEK

Another busy week for Dosbarth Alwen.

Dosbarth Alwen enjoyed a great music session from Music Experience this week (Denbighshire). They enjoyed playing instruments and listening to some great music.

We have also been learning new terminology in Science, floating, sinking, density, buoyancy and surface area. This has helped during our sinking and floating investigations. You can see their results on SeeSaw! Today we had a challenge to create a floating shape. This is all leading up to a STEM challenge in a few weeks.

In maths they have been working hard, learning all about fractions!

MOEL FAMMAU

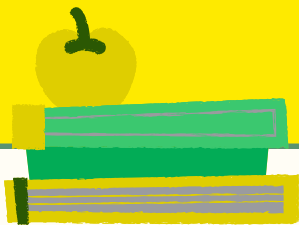

What We Learned

This week Moel Famau loved their session with 'The One Steve'- Steve Skidmore. There is always a buzz around the school when our patron of reading is in and year 5 threw themselves into action with some Shakespeare work.

In mathematics and numeracy we are developing our knowledge of algebra this week using function machines to work out what happens to a number.

This week in science the pupils planned their own experiment looking at how they can keep a drink cool. We look forward to analysing our results next week and using our ICT skills to create a line graph.

Next week we will be looking at the Easter story and planning some Easter craft, please can you send in any toilet or kitchen roll tubes. Diolch!
